

Theaters

It is a long time since such a splendid program has been offered to the patrons of the local theaters as the bill for the coming week. The headliner is of course "The Sheik" which opens at the Hippodrome Wailuku next Sunday and in looking over the advance sale it looks as if this picture will break all records. A close second will be America's Baseball Idol Babe Ruth in the big baseball story "Headin' Home" this will be a great treat for the fans of the "Home Run King," who plays the lead in a six reel production written especially for him. Another extra feature is the film version of the most popular comedy "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" this story is so well known that you can imagine what a scream the picture is and it is a safe bet that few will want to miss this great American comedy. An all star cast will be presented in "That Something" which is a production that has attained a position among the features that have enjoyed popular success in the best theaters of the mainland.

Madge Kennedy the clever and fascinating Goldwyn star is featured in "The Truth" a comedy of modern domestic life, a delightfully human picture, with sound advice for all girls about to marry, with those that are already married, "The Truth" will help them.

The management would like to impress upon the parents that our Friday nights program is made up especially for the children consisting of good clean comedies, Pathe News, Burton Holmes Travelogues, Cartoons and Paramount Magazines, and we hope to introduce several novelty nights which will be a delight to the kiddies that attend the Wailuku Hippodrome on Friday nights.

Remember that "The Sheik" will open at the Hippodrome next Sunday doors will open at 7 o'clock, picture will start sharp at 7:30 p. m.

"THE SHEIK"

"Who are you she gasped."

"I am the Sheik Ahmed Ben Hassan."

She was trapped, powerless, defenseless. It was inevitable; there was no help to be expected, no mercy to be hoped for. "The Sheik" the film version of E. M. Hull's novel by that name is considered the most magnificent photo play of the day, a picture of sheer beauty, the dramatic acting of Rudolph Valentino as Sheik Ahmed Ben Hassan, and Agnes Ayres as the proud English girl is most wonderful, the settings are colorful, vivid, enthralling, 'tis well that they claim it a motion picture de luxe. It is a picture of tremendous heart appeal, faithfully adapted from the book the best seller of the day.

"The Sheik" opens at the Wailuku Hippodrome, Sunday evening at 7:30 sharp, during the picture the song that like the book that is so well known will be played the melody that has made such a tremendous hit those that fall to see this gorgeous production will miss the greatest picture of the day, book your seats now, don't wait until the last minute but call up and book in advance and be sure of a good seat, we are offering this most expensive production at our regular prices. In addition to "The Sheik" a side splitting comedy "A Tank Town Follies" will be shown. Doors open at 7 o'clock, "The Sheik" will start at 7:30 sharp. Prices 25, 35, and 40 cents.

As a special added attraction at the Hippodrome Theater, Wailuku on Sunday the patrons of Maui's popular play house, apart from the opportunity of seeing the great Paramount Feature "The Sheik," Manager Harris has arranged with Mr. Frank Bal, Maui famous baritone soloist to sing the song that all America is humming "The Sheik," the song that was written especially for this masterpiece of the silver sheet. Mr. Bal who has a splendid voice which is so well suited for this particular song has been heard in concert several times on Maui never fails to carry his audience

In offering this double attraction at the Hippodrome at regular prices it is almost certain that the S. R. O. sign will have to be hung out and as there are several good reserved seats left it behooves everyone to reserve their seats before Sunday night, seats can be booked by calling either 285-A or 291-A or at the box office at the Hippodrome theater. The best program that has ever been offered to the patrons of the Hippodrome this season, to miss it means sad disappointment. After "The Wild West Show," the next place to go is "The Sheik," so let's go and see Rudolph Valentino.

"HEADIN' HOME"

"Babe" Ruth, the idol of every American sportsman, comes to the Maui Theaters in the sensational six-part super-feature cinemadrama, "Headin' Home" and he brings a record of having shattered all attendance figures at the spacious Madison Square Garden in New York City.

"Babe" Ruth as a motion picture star is indeed a treat for film and baseball fans. America's greatest of all time hitter, has for months been virtually monopolizing the columns of the sporting pages of local newspapers with his extraordinary hitting, but coming here as the featured member of a photodrama that has been received by the most fastidious of critics as the "second sensational triumph of 'Babe' Ruth in one season" is indeed a rare opportunity for our inhabitants to see the most talked of American today kill two birds at one stroke.

"Headin' Home" is minus the impossibilities and absurdities that have marred other screen pictures in which stars of the sporting world have been featured. On the contrary, it revolves about the story of a typical "bad boy" who is "so bad he is invited to leave town." But he doesn't stay away for long, for he returns a much changed individual—a man who has conquered the world. And this change is not brought about without hardship, for "Babe" indeed has a very hard time, but in the end he wins against stupendous odds. His mighty stick plays an important role.

"GET-RICH-QUICK WALLINGFORD" That money talks we all know, but that it comes in bunches when J. Rufus Wallingford begins to talk about it, is demonstrated in the Cosmopolitan production for Paramount of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," a screen version of the popular play by George M. Cohan.

How J. Rufus Wallingford and his associate in buncombe, "Blackie" Daw, make a fortune for themselves and the residents of the one-horse town of Battlesburg, is an enthralling story which is well adapted for the screen. The detail of their scheme present enough complications to make the picture interesting from first to last, and it is filled with amusing surprises for the audience and the two adventurers.

The featured players are Sam Hardy, Norman Kerry, Doris Kenyon and Diana Allen. The production is massive and of a high order of excellence.

"THE TRUTH"

Madge Kennedy is thinking of taking up the study of Japanese—this, to answer the many letters which come to her from the Orient where her pictures have made a great success. Almost every mail brings her a number of letters from Japanese admirers. Most of them of course are in English, but some of her distant admirers evidently think she understands their tongue, for they have written in it,

MADGE KENNEDY — "The Truth"

The Japanese are evidently an ardent race, but even Miss Kennedy who has received so many letters from them, was a little surprised the other day to read in a letter from Kandaku: "When I can not face your charming figure only a little while, I am so sorry that the world seems to become dark before my face immediately. I have only the one thought in life, to pray to some deity for your health and happy." Miss Kennedy is now appearing in her latest Goldwyn picture "The Truth" made from the play by Clyde Fitch.
